

Mary Davis

I was raised Catholic when there was experimentation in that church and I even served as an “altar girl”. But the gate to enter Catholic churches was so high and the doors seemed locked to the people as human beings.

I didn’t attend church for ~30 years. At a time in my life where I was looking for more, a colleague encouraged me to try the Chapel of the Cross, the Episcopal Church at the UNC Chapel Hill campus. And to my surprise, there were two women priests and I felt welcome and worthy.

When we moved to Steamboat, it was important to me to identify a faith community where we could nourish and support others and feel nourished and supported as well. To the search committee, I bring gifts of systematic inquiry and data collection and reporting from my career in public health evaluation. As a director and team leader, I have hired many people, looking for the most appropriate candidate who can perform the duties required as well as meet the needs of the organization.
